Name of Resource: The 1529 Holy Week and Easter Sermons of Dr. Martin Luther (print)

Author and/or Organization: translated by Irving L. Sandberg (Concordia Publishing House)

Link: <https://www.cph.org/p-24348-the-1529-holy-week-and-easter-sermons-of-dr-martin-luther.aspx>

Description: This collection of sermons shows Luther at the height of his expository power, demonstrating the depth of his pastoral concern. Intended as a preaching help, this book gives insights into both biblical text and the human condition. It addresses the Lord's Supper, the passion and resurrection of Christ, and the challenge of Christian proclamation today. This book may aid you in deepening your own understanding of Luther, especially in relation to such Catechism topics as Holy Communion, or in incorporating the Small Catechism into your own preaching. Includes annotations and introduction by Timothy J. Wengert.

Name of Resource: Faith Inkubators (digital)

Author and/or Organization: Faith Inkubators

Link: <http://www.faithink.com/>

Description: Faith Inkubators seeks to make the home the primary incubator of faith for disciples of all ages by replacing classroom models of education with parent-involved small group models. This is not unlike the original goal of the Catechism, which was also intended to empower families and serve as a teacher's guide for the household. Faith Inkubators produces programs for confirmation, intergenerational, and family ministries. You can learn more about these resources on their website and use them in conjunction with study of the Small Catechism in your home.

Link: <https://www.cph.org/p-24348-the-1529-holy-week-and-easter-sermons-of-dr-martin-luther.aspx>

Description: This collection of sermons shows Luther at the height of his expository power, demonstrating the depth of his pastoral concern. Intended as a preaching help, this book gives insights into both biblical text and the human condition. It addresses the Lord's Supper, the passion and resurrection of Christ, and the challenge of Christian proclamation today. This book may aid you in deepening your own understanding of Luther, especially in relation to such Catechism topics as Holy Communion, or in incorporating the Small Catechism into your own preaching. Includes annotations and introduction by Timothy J. Wengert.

Name of Resource: Martin Luther's Catechism: Forming the Faith (print)

Author and/or Organization: Timothy Wengert (Augsburg Fortress)

Link: <http://www.augsburgfortress.org/store/product/1792/Martin-Luther-Catechisms-Forming-the-Faith>

Description: In this book, Wengert follows the traditional catechism order to demonstrate the dynamic faith exhibited in the catechisms in their original context and ours. An ideal resource for college and seminary classes, as well as individual and group reading, this volume will be a valued vehicle for understanding Reformation faith for many years to come.

Name of Resource: A Large Catechism (print)

Author and/or Organization: Robert Jenson (American Lutheran Publicity Bureau)

Link: <https://alpb.org/books/a-large-catechism/>

Description: In this book, Jenson provides his rich explication of the Large Catechism, with chapters on the Ten Commandments, Creed, Baptism, Lord's Supper, and Lord's Prayer, reminding us that we should always remain children and pupils of the Catechism, as Luther said. This book would be especially helpful for leaders who are preparing to teach the Catechism.

B) Video

Name of Resource: Luther House of Study Videos (digital/vimeo)

Author and/or Organization: Luther House of Study

Link: <https://www.lutherhouseofstudy.org/category/index.php?Category=Catechism>

Description: Luther House of Study is doing an inter-Lutheran study on the Catechism in the form of a free online video series. Individuals may utilize these resources in self study while congregations or ministry professionals may find them beneficial for larger groups. The director of Luther House of Study, Chris Croghan, is an ordained pastor of the ELCA and a professor at Sioux Falls Seminary.

Name of Resource: "What Does This Mean?" Discussion Videos (digital)

Author and/or Organization: Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary of Lenoir Rhyne University

Link: <http://ltss.lr.edu/wdtm>

Description: "What does this mean?" is the emblematic question from Luther's Small Catechism, yet is applicable to Christians of all traditions. This series of videos is for use by individuals, churches, and other groups who are interested in engaging in dialogue about issues of the day. Each video is approximately 5 minutes in length. An accompanying study guide is available below each video. These are great for use with a Bible study group or Sunday school class.

C) Leader Planning Guide

Name of Resource: Cantor Connection Hymn Festival Series (digital)

Author and/or Organization: Association of Lutheran Church Musicians

Link: <http://www.alcm.org/news-events/cantor-connection/>

Description: ALCM Columbus: Cantor Connection, the central Ohio chapter of the Association of Lutheran Church Musicians (ALCM), has put together a series of five hymn festival events focusing on Martin Luther in honor of the 500th anniversary of the Reformation. The programs from these events have been made available through their website to be used as models for those interested in planning their own hymn festival.

Name of Resource: A Midweek Lenten Series Based on Luther's Small Catechism (print)

Author and/or Organization: Reformation 500 Sourcebook (p. 77-82) (Augsburg Fortress)

Link: <http://www.augsburgfortress.org/store/product/21657/Reformation-500-Sourcebook-Anniversary-Resources-for-Congregations>

Description: This guide for planning a Lenten Series based on the Small Catechism is available in the Reformation 500 Sourcebook from Augsburg Fortress. It focuses on one major section of the Catechism for each week of Lent: the 10 Commandments, Creed, Lord's Prayer, Baptism, and Holy Communion. Includes suggestions for scripture readings (from either the daily lectionary or passages referred to in the Small Catechism itself), opening dialogue, and songs. Congregations could supplement this with a weekly study of that portion of the catechism or use each portion in turn as part of the reflection, if desired.

Name of Resource: The Small Catechism and Stewardship

Author and/or Organization: The Center for Stewardship Leaders (Luther Seminary)

Link: <http://www.luthersem.edu/stewardship/>

Description: This series of reflections on the Small Catechism and stewardship is available online for free through Luther Seminary's website (follow the link and search "catechism"). There are five articles in the series, which connect stewardship to such topics as baptism, communion, confession, and the Lord's Prayer. You could develop these into a small group series or incorporate them into your own preaching and teaching on stewardship.
